UTAH COMMISSION REPORT

THREE OF THE MEMBERS FILE THEIR PAPERS AT WASHINGTON.

Some Interesting Statistics on the Great Mormon Question—The Beneficial Effects of the Edmunds Bill—Annual Report from Wyoming Territory.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—G. L. Godfrey, A. B. Williams and Arthur L. Thomas, constituting a majority of the Utah commission, have filed with the secretary of the interior the annual report of the commission on the affairs of that territory. A memorandum at the close of the document states that Commissioners Carlton and McClernand, dissenting from many of the views expressed therein, did not sign the report. The population of the territory is estimated at 200,000, a gain of nearly 60,000 since 1883. The valuation of the property assessed in the territory is given as $33,665,802. The property of the past seven years, says the report, has been equal to that of any former period in the history of the territory. The leading cities and towns and many of the smaller communities show a steady and gratifying growth.

On April 1 of the present year the total Mormon population in the territories of Utah, Idaho, Arizona, Wyoming and New Mexico and the states of Nevada and Colorado, was 192,783 officially classed as follows: Three first presidents, eleven apostles, sixty-five patriarchs, 4,444 seventies, 3,723 high priests, 14,411 elders, 2,423 priests, 2,407 teachers, 6,854 deacons and 91,283 members. In the territory of Utah the total church population is 132,207, and the number of children under eight years of age was 40,984. Since the death of John Taylor the government of the church has rested upon the quorum of the twelve apostles, of which Wilford Woodruff is president. He is now the virtual head of the church. The Mormon church, continues the report, teaches its members not to enter the territorial courts to settle their difficulties. It has provided a system of courts within the church. First, there is a ward court presided over by a bishop counselor. They are empowered to try all minor cases both of a temporal and spiritual nature, and to set in judgment upon transgressors. From this court appeals may be taken to the stake court and then to the "first presidency" or "apostle queen," which is a court of last resort and exclusive jurisdiction. The titheings for 1880 amounted to $540,000. The building of the Salt Lake temple which was commenced in 1893, has already cost millions of dollars and will not be completed for years to come. The people, the report says, are very tenacious of their rights and persistently claim they are persecuted. The Mormon strength is estimated at 55,000.

These men own of the assessed property of the territory nearly one-third, exclusive of railroad property. The different religious denominations have sixty-two churches. The Methodist denomination has the largest number—twenty-six. Presbyterians eighteen, Catholics six, and so decreasing through five other societies. These several churches have established and control eighty-seven schools with an aggregate of 6,688 pupils, and 280 teachers. Since the passage of the Edmunds law in 1882, 541 persons have been indicted for unlawful cohabitation; 299 of these were convicted. The number convicted of polygamy was fourteen. Many of the persons indicted have fled to escape arrest. In the enforcement of the law the report says the present officers of the Federal courts in Utah are entitled to special commendation, and this should also include the late able prosecuting attorney. The National law relating to bigamy and polygamy have been in effective operation for about three years. Standing face to face the leaders and their obedient followers have made no concession, and the issue is squarely maintained, between assumed revelations and the laws of the land. The first annual election under the act of congress, prescribing registration oath for voters, was held on August 1 of this year, and resulted as follows: The Mormons elected ten councillors and twenty-one members; the Liberals or non-Mormons elected two councillors and three members. The total vote cast was 16,961.

On the subject of the movement for statehood the report says that in June last a convention was held for the purpose of adopting a constitution on which to demand admission to the Union. The constitution, adopted with great unanimity, declares bigamy and polygamy to be misdemeanors and fixes punishment. It also provides that no further legislation shall be required to make or define these offences and proclaim the separation of church and state. The instrument is silent as to the offense of unlawful cohabitation. The non-Mormons declined to recognize or join in the proceedings of the convention. The Mormons claim that having taken this action the people ought not to be longer denied a voice in the conduct of their own affairs and in the selection of their officers. In the election which followed, upon the adoption of this constitution, the non-Mormons refused to vote, and the Montegamian Mormons cast 13,195 votes in its favor. Only 500 votes being cast against it.

The commission regards this state movement as an effort to free the Mormon church from the toll which the firm attitude of the government and the energetic course of the Federal officers have thrown around them and opposes its consummation. During the past year the names of sixty-seven men have been reported to the commission as having entered into polygamy. The commission renews its recommendation of last year except such as were enacted into laws at the last session of congress. The commission also recommends that authority be conferred upon the governor of the territory to appoint the following county officers: Selectmen, clerks, assessors, recorders and superintendents of district schools. In conclusion the commission submits that in its opinion the results which have followed from the passage of the Edmunds act has been very beneficial to the territory.

Wyoming Territory Report. WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—The governor of Wyoming Territory in his annual report states that the territory is adapted for farming purposes as well as for stock raising, and the advantages of combining the two are well recognized. The governor estimates that the population is now 35,000. He states that the finances of the territory have been well managed, and that the debt is $280,000. Owing to the fact that the railroad lands are assessed this year for the first time the taxable values of the present year exceed those of last year by over a million of dollars. For the ten months beginning in September of last year and ending June 30, 1887, there were 933,185 acres of public land taken up. The result of the operations of the great syndicates has been to continue the report to retard the progress of the territory and prevent immigration.

In speaking of the cattle business the governor notes its decadence as compared with former years, and attributes this falling off to the great growth of the business. The report states that next year the Wyoming Central, the Burlington & Missouri and Dubuque & Northern railroads will be in course of completion. The governor states that bituminous coal deposits are found almost everywhere in the territory. For the six months ending July 1 there were over 500,000 tons of coal mined. There are also extensive deposits of soda found, which is converted into the marketable article in the territory. The oil fields are perhaps the richest in the world, says the governor, and large developments have been made during the past few years. The governor recommends the creation of three new land offices to be known as the Buffalo, Sundance and Lander districts.

A CORN PALACE.

The Unique Feature of Sioux City's Harvest Jubilee.

SIoux CITY, Iowa, Oct. 5.—Yesterday was the opening day of the first corn harvest jubilee of this section. For weeks past preparations leading to the great event have been in progress. The corn crop of this section has always been a great source of wealth, and it was determined some time ago to bring this fact into greater prominence. Men began to talk up corn, and an interest was aroused that spread like wild-fire, and resulted in bringing about a grand harvest jubilee. The jubilee week, from October 3 to October 8, inclusive, will include day and night parades of the military and civic societies, and the agricultural, mechanical, trade, labor and fantastic associations. The Sioux City Flambeau club will also exhibit at night. At night there will be Indian war dances and square races, and on the last night a grand jubilee costume ball. No pains have been spared to entertain the huge crowds that are expected.

CORN PALACE, SIOUX CITY.

The grand attraction of this festival is the corn palace, an allegorical temple of corn, designed by a skilled architect, and made of corn and the other cereals of the northwest. Within the palace are exhibited all the grains grown in Iowa, Nebraska and Dakota, and all the other products of the farm.

The corn palace, as it stands to-day, is in truth a revelation. It fronts on Fifth street 210 feet, and on Jackson street one hundred feet. Rising from the center of the structure, one hundred by one hundred feet, is the dome or cupola, surmounted by a spire one hundred feet high. Each of the four corners rises boldly into square pavilions. Imagine such magnificent proportions, broken by the pavilion towers, by projecting minarets, by arched openings and immense pinnacles; behind them rising in relief the great roof, above all the towering cupola and spire, connected in relief with the pavilions with flying buttresses; imagine these proportions clothed all about with the products of the corn field and decked out with these in a profusion of beauty; one grand harmonious whole, a stately witness of the harvesting bounty of the empire of the northwest, the realm of king corn. It is a spectacle to enchain attention, to command admiration.

Take the great fronts of the structure on Fifth and Jackson streets, and none who have not seen would believe that such magical effects could be wrought out of the materials of the corn field. Take the 210 feet frontage on Fifth street, and every square inch of it is wrought into some cunning and representative form of the king of products. The walls rise one harmonious, though variegated, mass of the stalk and leaf; at the base, wicker work, green as the rushes of the Nile, and here and there, pendant, in rich contrast, as the golden ears. The double arches of the openings in the pavilions are faced with rows of ears, sometimes richly fringed with the husk, sometimes of one color and sometimes of another; now in one form and again in another. Then, the great panels in the body of the wall and the columns rising high to battlement—here is one of the special marvels of the unique creation, or rather scores of marvels. In each of a score of these panels or divisions there is wrought some design—here a diamond and there a checker, here a motto and there some other inscription—wrought from ears of a dozen kinds and a dozen hues—golden yellow, pure white, blood red, violet and so on. Against these ingenious forms of beauty stands the quiet, but none the less effective beauty of the corn clad columns, broken by the columns, around which are bound the russet blades of the corn plant and a graceful combination of grains and grasses. Along the top, upper line of the front runs a shiny hem of oats, interspersed in places by the dark seed of the sorghum plant, corn ears of flaming red or some other relieving color. Still above, rise the graceful minarets, raimented in rich colors of native grasses, and crowned with tufts of millet, and flying banners. In the back ground rises the roof, a seeming solid mass of corn almost, and from it towers the cupola, its arches wrought like those below, and here and there panels of curious forms of corn, red, white, violet, yellow and all colors under the sun, surrounded and interwoven with the plant itself and other products in every conceivable shape.

Passing to the interior of the great structure amaze and find fresh stimulus at every turn. There hangs a sunflower, perfect in form and color, yet every fiber from the corn plant. Yonder are the tiger lilies, of the same elements, illusion perfect—who would have believed it! Everywhere, bouquets, panels, ceilings, mottoes, draperies, pendants, stars, statues of Ceres, bells, lattice work, beaded curtains, all forms of farmers' implements—every last one made of the corn or of the plants that grow with it. As you enter the wide portal, above is the seal official of the city—every bar and coloring made of corn; beyond, a great spider and his web spread out above; still higher hangs a mammoth bell; to the left there is a tableau of "The Golden Stair," further on the figure of an Indian and an eagle—all made and dressed with the blade and grain and stalk of corn. One great marvel of the scene is a landscape, "The Setting Sun," the great orb itself made all of corn, the beams shot with the brilliancy of the grain, and the perspective with such skill executed as to deceive the keenest eye. These are but samples. A hundred other curious shapes and fantasies would weary the onlooker if all were not so new, so strangely made out of material so long thought common and despised, yet now found to outshin the rose and shame the lily.

Within electric lights render all a very castle of enchantment. Outside an elaborate system make brilliant illumination. Nine great arches span the streets, and at the corner of the palace is a tower, blazing and brilliant, and altogether from 5,000 to 7,000 globes and jets, after the fashion of the illumination at the great St. Paul ice palace. The scene at night is magnificent.

THIRTEEN MISSING.

A Canadian Steamer Breaks in Two in a Gale.

ST. IGNACE, Mich., Oct. 5.—The Canadian passenger propeller California left Chicago Saturday night, with a full cargo of corn and pork, for Montreal. She struck yesterday's gale in Lake Michigan, and when off St. Helena, the sea washed over her and filled her hold and put her fires out. The crew worked hard, but were unable to keep the fire going. At 1 o'clock this morning the boat broke up, and in one minute and a half she went down. There was no time to get the boats down. How many were lost is yet uncertain. Seven men in the life boat reached Point Les Barbes in an almost lifeless state, but are now doing well. Some of them are badly cut up.

It is probable that the captain and some of the crew are on St. Helena. There were too women and one young man passengers. The persons missing are Capt. John Trow, of Toronto; Peter Lago, first mate, Montreal; George Foley, purser, Toronto; Bill Taugh, fireman, Toronto; S. A. Mills, second engineer, Toronto; James Ellis, first engineer, Toronto; Miss Poppa, lady's maid, Kingston; Miss Blood, lady's maid, Patton; Arthur Hazzard, cabin boy, Toronto; Boh, assistant clerk, Montreal, and the three passengers.

Murdered His Mother.

ISLIP, N. Y., Oct. 5.—Mrs. Cynthia Hawkins, occupying a high position in social and church circles, was murdered Monday by her only son, Frank, because she objected to his marrying a servant girl. He has confessed, and in his story says that he got his mother into the buggy by telling her that her sister, Mrs. Egbert Smith, was very sick and not expected to live. He said he wanted to talk to her about getting married to Hattie Schreck, and he began at once by asking her consent to the marriage. She was vehement in her opposition and both became very much excited. When his mother went so far as to call Hattie a German prostitute his rage, he said, became ungovernable, and he pulled out his pistol and shot her in the forehead. He says she did not scream or show any signs of life after he shot her, and that he did not beat her or wound her in any other way than by shooting her. It was nearly in front of her sister's house that she was murdered, in a cross-road, about one thousand feet from the main road, toward the shore. He drove back to the main road, and, after going nearly two miles, he took the body out and left it by the roadside.

Cold-Blooded Kentucky Killing.

LEBANON, Ky., Oct. 5.—Clem Rawlings, a justice of the peace, was shot and killed here yesterday by Frank Beard. Both men belonged to families of good standing. The immediate cause of the killing is not known. Rawlings and Edgar Beard were in the parlor of the Verandah hotel, talking with some lady friends, when a quarrel arose. The men were both suitors for the hand of one of the ladies, and it is supposed that from this arose the trouble. Beard left the hotel, pursued by Rawlings, several shots being exchanged. Frank, a brother of Edgar Beard, came to his assistance, and when the parties had passed out into the street a short distance from the hotel, he shot Rawlings in the back of the head, killing him instantly.

Victims of Foul Air.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 4.—William Wood, aged sixteen, son of Frank Wood, accompanied by his father's coachman, George Hawkins, left yesterday to explore an old abandoned mine near here. Not returning home, search was made and when found this morning, both were dead in the mine, suffocated by foul air. Miners pumped air in three hours before the bodies could be recovered. Young Wood was to start for college to-day. Hawkins was thirty-five and leaves a wife and two children.

Natural Gas Near Oxford, Ohio.

OXFORD, O., Oct. 5.—This place is again excited over the discovery of natural gas, about two miles east of the city, on the Nichols farm, in the bed of Four Mile creek. The water in the stream for about two hundred feet is agitated as by powerful springs, and a bar of sunk in the water, with a hole bored in the top, emits sufficient gas to produce a blaze three feet in height when lighted.

ROYALLY ENTERTAINED.

THE PRESIDENT AND PARTY AT THE MOUND CITY.

A Public Reception at the Lindell Hotel, Where Thousands of People Greet the Chief Executive—Listening to Gilmore's Band—Speech and the Parade.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6.—President Cleveland's speech, in the merchants' exchange Monday won him many favorable comments and much applause. He was driven through the principal streets, and at 2 o'clock went to the Lindell hotel, where he and his wife lunched and rested for an hour. At 3 p. m. the doors of the parlors were thrown open, and the public reception began and lasted three hours. Mrs. Cleveland was assisted by several St. Louis ladies.

The police arrangements inside the hotel were magnificent, but on the outside it was impossible to keep order, the street being narrow and cars running by every half minute. Thousands of people greeted the executive, who received them all in his usual pleasant manner. Mrs. Cleveland shook hands with a few, but bestowed smiles and bows on all.

In the evening the president, his wife and seven traveling companions were escorted through the gorgeously illuminated streets by the reception committee. In Music hall the party occupied two boxes, and Gilmore's band played several selections, the first being the "Shower of Roses." During the performance of this piece a hanging screen on one side of the stage was let fall, exposing a life-size painting of Mrs. Cleveland. From this letting down of the screen to the end of the piece rose leaves fell from the ceiling. After listening to the music for half an hour, the visitors were escorted to the lecture room, where Minnecasky's "Christ Before Pilate" was on exhibition.

The party arrived at the hotel at 10, and was serenaded by the Hendricks association and many other political clubs. The president was introduced by Col. David Carruth and thanked the organizations for the compliment. He believed the heartiness of the demonstration betrayed their Democratic enthusiasm. His trip had increased his sense of the duties of his office. It behooved all to guard against party blindness, which leads from good citizenship and true Democracy. The president bade them good-night and it was after midnight when the parade had passed.

"Another day of Cleveland weather," remarked a member of the presidential party this morning, as the sun broke through the clouds of the Lindell. Before 9 o'clock President Cleveland, escorted by a committeeman and a squad of mounted police, was driven to the court house where he received the public for an hour and a half. Many thousand persons paid their respects and much enthusiasm was manifested. The program to-day was quite elaborate and by the time it had been gone through the members of the party were ready for rest. At 10:30 carriages were in waiting to carry the presidential party to the foot of Chestnut street to the steamer Baton Rouge. Here Mrs. Cleveland, escorted by a number of ladies and gentlemen, joined the president, and promptly at 11 o'clock the boat steamed up the river to a point where a good view of the bridge would be obtained, and afterward returning down stream to the foot of Chestnut street met the party on the wharf and conveyed them to the fair ground, where an elegant lunch was partaken of at the jockey club.

Returning at 5 o'clock the cortege drove through the principal streets. After arriving at the hotel the president and Mrs. Cleveland rested for an hour and a half when they were escorted to the Lindell hotel balcony and viewed the Veiled Prophet's parade. At the close of this they were escorted to the merchants' exchange and remained for some time at the ball. They were then driven to the depot where they went on board their special train and left the city en route for Chicago.

Killed by Electricity.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 5.—A corpse sixty feet from the earth, hanging in a mesh of wires, the arms and feet moving perceptibly like Jack on a string, was the ghastly sight which greeted people at 9 o'clock last night on the corner of Woodward avenue and the Campus Martius. The discoverer of this shocking tragedy happened to be a man with a fire alarm box key and he called the department. Three ladders were erected in mid-air and all fell short of reaching the dead man, but finally he was got down on the Hayes extension and carried into a neighboring drug store. He had been dead some time, and through his body during the time he hung there had passed the electric current of the entire Brush system, which had made his limbs move as if convulsively. Thus perished Lineman Hiram Corlies. Nobody knows how long he had hung in the wires when discovered. An immense crowd gathered to watch the efforts to secure the body, an operation attended with great danger because the electric current was still on. Corlies, in replacing or looking for a leak, had made a fatal find.

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 5.—Exposition commissioners met in regular session last night.

Mr. Waite presented certain modifications to the plans of the park building that will reduce the net cost to $87,000. The canal building will cost $45,000, thus bringing the total cost of buildings within the $150,000 already allowed. Mr. Gray figured the running expenses of the exposition at $407,300. The gate receipts for 100 days were estimated at $500,000, and the receipts from privileges at $40,000 more.

Born Without Eyes.

DUBUQUE, Iowa, Oct. 5.—A child born yesterday to Mr. and Mrs. Bohu is without eyes. A surgical operation failed to reveal the slightest trace in any form of optics. In other respects the child is perfect and unusually strong and well shaped.

THE Cigar Maker's International Union has resolved against the proposed abolition of the internal revenue tax on cigars. The resolution sets forth that the abolition of the tax would result in no benefit to either producer or consumer.

ACCORDING to a special from Winfield, W. Va., C. P. Huntington has bought another railroad. This time it is the Kanawha and Ohio, and it will hereafter be known as the Toledo Division of the Newport News and Mississippi Valley Railway. The special says the road changed hands Sunday.

THE New Richmond, O., News hits the "croakers" and "grumblers" a center shot when it says "twenty real live men are worth more to a town and the public generally than a round full thousand of useless material that lies around like rubbish in a rushing stream that is aching and foaming to turn mills and factories. Live men bless and dead men curse a town."

JUDGE KELLEY advocates the repeal of the tax on whisky, and says the matter ought to be left to the States and municipal authorities for regulation and taxation. In support of this he quotes Judge Robert C. Pitman, of Massachusetts, an eminent jurist and advocate of temperance, who said: "We are compelled to the conclusion that the taxation of the liquor traffic offers no effective regulation of it; that if held out as a measure of reform it is delusive and stands in the way of better legislation, and that in itself it has the double vice of being opposed to the better moral instincts, and of being operative as a bribe to pervert the public conscience. Judge Kelley, while admitting that the liquor traffic is a fearful source of crime, pauperism and disease, insists that it can only be regulated or prohibited by the States, cities and counties, which have to bear the burdens it imposes, and are therefore entitled to receive the revenue that may be derived from its devastating influence."

Bishop Andrews ordained last Sunday morning twelve young men as Deacons. There was a large increase in the membership, and the collections were far in advance of last year.

Dr. McCabe stated that the missionary collections for the year for the whole church would be far in advance of a million dollars.

Rev. Thomas Hanford delivered two sermons and one address during the conference.

Notice to Sons of Veterans.

Special meeting to-night of Camp Otto, S. of V. Business of importance. A full attendance is requested.

S. E. Orro, Lieutenant Commanding.

MR. AND MRS. A. R. BURGESS, accompanied by their daughter May and their son Asa, Jr., left yesterday for Covington to be present at the marriage of Isaac Dillard Cooper and Miss Planché Black, which takes place at 5 o'clock this evening. Miss Black is a daughter of Willie Black, deceased, and has a number of relatives at Fern Leaf and Germantown. The bridal party will be attended by Messrs. Ed. Ernst, Evans Lippincott, Owen Mead and Claude Black. The honeymoon will be spent in the East, after which the couple will return by way of Chicago to their future home at Minneapolis, where the young banker has a handsome residence in readiness for his bride.

Will Cushman, of Dover, received last evening from Alexander's Stud Farm near Lexington, the fine stallion, Pilot Russell, which he bought not long ago. Pilot Russell was foaled April 23, 1885, and is a brother to Maud S. (2084). He was sired by Harold. First dam, Miss Russell by Pilot, Jr.; second dam Sally Russell, by Old Boston.

Especially to Women.

"Sweet is revenge especially to women," said the gifted, but naughty, Lord Byron. Surely he was in bad humor when he wrote such words. But there are complaints that only women suffer, that are carrying numbers of them down to early graves. There is hope for those who suffer, no matter how sorely, or severely, in Dr. R. V. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription." Safe in its action it is a blessing, especially to women and to men, too, for when women suffer, the household is askew.

CHICAGO MARKETS.

FURNISHED BY W. A. NORTON.
 Yesterday's Closing—November wheat, 71 1/2; corn, 4 1/2; December wheat, 73 1/2; May wheat, 75 1/2; corn, 45 1/2.

TOBACCO MARKET.

Furnished by Glover & Durrett, proprietors, Louisville Tobacco Warehouse.
 Sales on our market for the week just closed amounted to 3,124 hds., with receipts of 1,331 hds. for the same period. Sales on our market since January 1st amount to 13,710 hds. The market this week has been stronger than at any time during the year, all grades considered. The greatest recent advance has been in the low and medium grades, but the improvement has also extended to the finer grades, and sales were made during the week as high as $28 per hundred. The manufacturers seem to realize that there is not much prospect for a decline in values, and now manifest a desire to accumulate stocks. We find it necessary to advance quotations.

BRILLIANT NUPTIALS.

Marriage of Elizabeth W. Morgan, of this City, to Frank A. Mannen, of St. Paul, Minn.

Wedded at the Central Presbyterian Church.

The marriage of Miss Elizabeth W. Morgan, of this city, to Frank Armstrong Mannen, of St. Paul, Minn., was solemnized last evening in the Central Presbyterian Church. The nuptials were the most brilliant that have occurred in Mayville for many a day.

The church presented an attractive scene as the hour appointed for the ceremony that was to unite two loving hearts drew near. The altar was tastefully garnished with lovely flowers, intermingled with tropical plants and bright evergreens. The decorations were of unusual elegance throughout.

Cards had been issued and invited guests only were admitted to the church. The large and handsome auditorium was crowded with the friends and relatives of the couple to witness the happy event. Messrs Will Sutherland, Harry C. McDougle, and C. B. Williams, of this city, and Charles Lilley, of Hillsboro, O., acted as ushers.

There were six bridesmaids: Miss May Morgan, a sister of the bride; Miss Elta Everett and Miss Lillie May Thomas, of this city; Miss Carrie Smith, of Cincinnati; and Miss Lucy Belle Smith and Miss Mary Trimble Armstrong, of Hillsboro, O. The latter is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Armstrong, and a cousin of the groom. The groomsmen were: Daniel Morgan, of Omaha, Neb., brother of the bride; Percy Lee Mannen, of this city, a brother of the groom; J. Lewis Patton, of Lexington, Va.; Will Hays, of Covington, and Harry C. Currau and George C. Keith, of this city.

The church was crowded when the bridal party arrived. Their appearance was greeted with the soft, sweet music of the wedding march, and to these strains the altar was approached, where Rev. Russell Cecil, pastor of the church, soon spoke the words that made the young and happy couple husband and wife.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Morgan. She was richly dressed in white silk. The groom is the eldest son of the late Major Thomas H. Mannen. Both are exceedingly popular with their large circle of friends and acquaintances. Two years ago the groom removed from this city to St. Paul, and engaged in business. He is at present a member of the firm of Canby & Mannen, real estate brokers. He and his lovely bride have been devoted to each other from their earliest acquaintance, and blessings from every hand are showered upon the brilliant nuptials.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the couple, their attendants and the guests repaired to the home of the bride's parents where followed an elegant reception. Mr. and Mrs. Mannen left on the early train this morning for their future home in St. Paul. They will spend a few days in Chicago while en route to their home.

WILLIAM KARR.

One of Gen. Forrest's Old Men Lucky. As announced, Mr. W. A. Barnhill, of this city, held one-tenth of ticket 29,146, that drew $50,000 in the August drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery, and received his money—$5,000—promptly through the First National Bank of this city. He is an old man, fifty-five years of age, and proposes to manage his fortune so as to live easy, and experience as few of the worries of life as possible. He served through the late war on General N. B. Forrest's staff and made a good soldier. Persistent and patient investing of one dollar each month in the Louisiana State lottery, and the practice he has kept up so long he proposes to continue.—Jackson (Tenn.) Tribune and Sun, August 26.

Minstrels To-night.

Rice, Hart & Ryman's Minstrels will give an entertainment at the opera house to-night. Admission, 25, 35 and 50 cents. The Bourbon News says: "This company is second to none on the road. The three gentlemen at the head of the organization are all very popular with our theatre-goers. William Henry Rice has appeared at our opera house many times, and each time scored a decided hit. John Hart (late of Two Johns) is as stout and as funny as ever. Gov. Add. Ryman is king of stump speech orators. Lester, Williams, Hooley, Thompson and Chas. French are among the minstrel profession. Good singing and music will be among the features of the evening. The great society burlesque, "Sarah Heartburn," as seen at the Arch street opera house, Philadelphia, for four consecutive weeks, will be a feature of the performance."

WEDDED AT WASHINGTON.

Marriage of Robert Browning Owens to Miss Julia Wood.

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. George Wood, near Washington, was the scene of a happy event this morning, the occasion being the marriage of their daughter, Miss Julia Wood, to Robert Browning Owens, of this city. The groom is the eldest son of Colonel and Mrs. Frank S. Owens, and has held a situation for several years with the well-known business firm of which his father is the senior member.

In accordance with the wishes of the couple, the wedding was a quiet one, only their relatives and a few intimate friends being present to witness the nuptials.

The ceremony was performed at 11 o'clock, Rev. Russell Cecil, of this city, officiating. A wedding breakfast followed, at the home of the parents, after which the couple drove to the nearest station, and took the afternoon train for a brief bridal trip. They will probably make this city their home for some time.

UNITED STATES STOREKEEPER V. H. PERKINS passed through town yesterday for his home at Tollesboro, for a month's recreation. In the assignment of internal revenue officers for October, it was his turn to be relieved from duty.

AN exchange from Erie, Pa., says A. H. Knoll was the recipient last week of a costly gold-plated, richly engraved cornet, the gift of the maker, C. G. Conn, of Elkhart, Ind. This is the second favor bestowed upon Mr. Knoll by the celebrated manufacturer.

NICK WORTHINGTON, an account of whose stabbing by Steve Trabue near Lair's Station was published the other day, has about recovered from his wounds. He is up and going about, says the Bourbon News. Trabue is still at large, and is thought to be somewhere in Indiana.

One of the biggest blasts ever touched off in this State, perhaps, was exploded at Elkin, on the Kentucky Central, in Clark County. Two hundred and fifty kegs, or 6,250 pounds, of powder was used, and ten thousand square yards of rock was thrown out. It will take two construction trains six months to move the debris. The rock will be used for ballasting.

REV. JOSEPH M. EVANS returned Monday from Lair's Station, Harrison County, where the meeting which he had been conducting in the Presbyterian Church for the past week or so closed Sunday night. There were fifty-eight additions to the membership, and about $500 was collected to complete the church and for the evangelistic work in the State. Mr. Evans held a meeting at Lair's four years ago. At that time there were but two members, and the services were conducted in a private house. Now there are about seventy-five or eighty members, and they have a nice church, with money to finish paying for it.

THE FIRST DAY'S SESSION.

MEETING OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY, KNIGHTS OF LABOR.

The Representatives of the Press Excluded From the Hall-Welcome Address From Grand Master Powderly. Report of Committee on Credentials.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 5.—The delegates to the General Assembly of the Knights of Labor commenced to gather in Harmonia hall soon after 9 o'clock this morning, and at half-past 10 o'clock, when three sharp strokes from the chairman's gavel announced that the hour for commencing business had arrived, very few seats were unoccupied. None but delegates were admitted. The proposition to admit the representatives of the press to the meetings of the body subject to their withdrawal when it should be deemed desirable to go into executive session, was abandoned this morning, in the face of indications that there would be considerable watching of soiled linen on the part of the various delegations.

Quite a number of women delegates had put in an appearance up to the hour of opening the proceedings, among them being Mrs. Stevens, of Milwaukee; Mrs. Maria Todd, of Michigan; Mrs. Mary Haunafin, of Philadelphia; Mrs. Hale, of New Jersey, and Mrs. Lenora M. Barry, of New York. A few brief words of welcome were expressed by Grand Master Workman Powderly and the report of the committee on credentials was at once submitted. The discussion upon this document will probably consume some time.

Some of the delegates are of the idea that the work before the assembly can be completed inside of a week or ten days, but Mr. Powderly said this morning that according to the best idea he could form it would be nearer three weeks before they had a chance to get away.

Late last night and early this morning the opponents of the executive board, as the anti-Powderly faction now characterize themselves, were in consultation for the purpose of arranging their program, and if they submit but a small proposition of the complaints that they have formulated, they are likely to occupy a good proportion of the session. Their latest grievance is that a number of stenographers and clerks, who are not members of the order, have been given employment at the general headquarters at Philadelphia, and that this practice is calculated to destroy the secret features of the organization. It will also be charged that a sum exceeding $5,000 has been expended by the executive quarters without compliance with the law relating to expenditures. It is not alleged that this money has been used other than in the interests of the order, but the kickers contend that not a penny should be disturbed except upon the proper vouchers, and that the practice referred to should be roundly condemned.

Morrison, of New York, has been actively circulating among the delegates this morning, seeking support for the motion to reinstate his assembly, and Buchanan, of Chicago, has been equally alert in his own interest.

Interest in the resolution in favor of the condemned Anarchists continues to increase, and while the Chicago delegation have won over many of the delegates who were at first opposed to its consideration, they have failed with others who are noted for their eloquence and conservative disposition, and numerous points of order will be made as soon as the subject is sprung. Among those outside of Chicago, who will support the cause of the condemned men, are William R. Fox, of Detroit, Assembly No. 43, who says they did not have a fair trial and that the evidence did not warrant the verdict; J. M. Bloomer, of the Toledo News, a largely circulated labor paper, who thinks they should be sent to jail, but not to the gallows; F. H. McCabe, of District 87, who is opposed to capital punishment under any circumstances; Hugh McGarvey, of District 135, the miners district, who says there was no evidence to warrant the verdict; and John May, of District 100, who says they should not be hanged without assigning his reasons. All these men are good talkers and they will take the floor in support of the proposition to be submitted by Schilling.

The affairs of the co-operative board will furnish food for considerable debate. Despite the fact that the body has failed to touch a single dollar of the appropriation of $40,000 granted at the Richmond convention, and, moreover, prepared an elaborate and valuable report, it has a number of opponents. They contend that its centralization features are obnoxious, that the majority of the authority of the order is vested in it, and that a radical change is in order to divert it of some of its objectionable features.

The Farmers' Alliance, which is very strong in the west and northwest opened its annual convention to-day, with several hundred delegates in attendance. It is understood that the knights will make direct overtures to the alliance with the view of a union of forces. The morning was occupied with a business session. At its close there was a public meeting in Winona hall, where the delegates were welcomed by Mayor Ames. A hearty response was made by James Kennedy, president of the Iowa state alliance, and President A. J. Streeter, of Illinois, made his annual address. At the business session a committee was appointed to prepare a constitution by which each congressional district can elect a delegate to the convention. Under the present rule but two delegates can be chosen from each state, and it is thought the change will tend to largely increase the membership of the alliance.

Co-operative buying and selling will occupy a great deal of the time at the alliance meeting. It is regarded by the members of the organization as the one question of greatest importance just now. Texas and Dakota seem to have run away ahead of their sister states and territories in the matter of co-operative buying and selling. President McCune, of the Texas Alliance, estimates that they have saved at least one million dollars in cotton ginning alone in that state. Texas is the stronghold of the Alliance, and its membership is over twenty thousand. Iowa and Dakota have quadrupled their membership during the year. Minnesota has held its own. Nebraska, Illinois, Kansas and Michigan have little more than doubled their membership during the year. In Ohio the remarkable growth of the organization can be judged from the fact that local alliances are being organized at the rate of two a day. The National Alliance has chartered thirteen thousand local alliances in states and territories where they had no organization.

After a partial reading of the report of the committee on credentials, inquiries of the delegates developed the fact that in consequence of several late additions to the list the document had not been completed. An adjournment was therefore ordered until the document was completed.

A DOUBLE-CRIME.

An Old Man and His Daughter Murdered by a Georgia Negro.

MADISON, Ga., Oct. 5.—Eliak Morris, a desperate and shiftless negro, had abused his wife, Mollie, until she could endure it no longer, and so she left him and went to her parents, Dan and Lucy Looket, who were considered the best negroes in this vicinity, and had the confidence of the neighbors, both white and black. Morris, on Saturday night, repaired to their home. He was apparently sober and unusually quiet. He sat around the house and talked until a late hour, when Dan Looket suggested it was time to go to bed, and told Eliak he had better go home. He said he wanted to stay and talk with his wife. The old folks then retired. Eliak sat around, it seems, till Mollie dropped off to sleep, sitting on the threshold of the door.

He then stealthily crept into the old man's bed room, crawled behind his bed and got down his gun from its hooks on the wall, and blew the old man's brains out. Lucy was awakened by the report, but Mollie still slept outside. Seeing the bed in flames she began to exert herself to extinguish them, when Eliak knocked her down with the butt of the gun, and pulling his dirk out, cut her throat like a butcher, in cold blood, and leaving her lying there in a dying condition, went out where Mollie was still asleep, and knocking her from the door step into the yard, also cut her throat, not, however, killing her outright, and she may yet live, although her windpipe is cut and she is in a critical condition. Eliak then fled.

Neighbors soon found out the state of affairs and the alarm was given. Monday, many bloodhounds having been secured from the convict camp, some five miles distant, about twenty indignant negroes joined the sheriff and posse, in hot pursuit of the black fiend. The negroes vow they will string Morris to a tree as soon as he is caught. The last reports from him were that he was making for Atlanta.

Two Women Indulge in a Fatal Fight.

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky., Oct. 5.—News reaches here to-day that Annie Bronaugh entered Hannah Major's house at Casky the other night and proceeded to break up the furniture, whereupon the latter seized a butcher knife and stabbed her assailant eight times, one blow severing the left arm. The victim will die. The murderess was exonerated by trial.

He Changed His Mind.

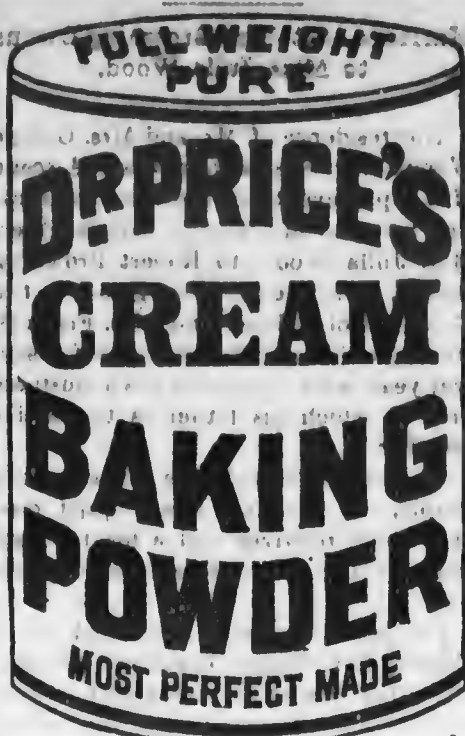

NEW ALBANY, Ind., Oct. 5.—Dr. R. C. Knoefel, instead of going to Canada, as reported, has been safely concealed at his residence on Lower State street since his forger exploits were revealed Monday. This morning the startling announcement was made that he had taken a dose of morphine with suicidal intent. The reporter immediately repaired to the residence and found the report confirmed. Knoefel died at 9:30 this morning, surrounded by his disgraced father, mother, brother and devoted wife, who clung to him at his deathbed with indescribable love and affection. Not unfortunately did she attempt to kill herself as she said she wanted to join him. Thus ends the career of a leading and prosperous physician with hosts of friends, who intended to make the forgeries good had he lived.

A Berkshire Man's Noble Gift.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Oct. 5.—Harry Bishop, a native of Berkshire county and a leading citizen of Chicago, proposes to erect and equip, at a cost of not less than $250,000, a training school for nurses in connection with the Pittsfield House of Mercy. He does this as a memorial to his son, who died about two years ago while attending Williams college. Mr. Bishop intends to make the institution a benefit to the entire county, and especial provision will be made for the care of the sick of Lenox, with which town the son was closely identified.

Death of John B. Finch.

BOSTON, Oct. 5.—John B. Finch, of Nebraska, the noted prohibition orator, and chairman of the National Prohibition committee, died last night at the Eastern railroad depot from the effects of a fit with which he was seized on the train while returning to this city after delivering a temperance lecture at Lynn.
